

The Overview

The 21st Annual Mastering Scientific Evidence in DWI/DUI Cases features the world renowned scientific alcohol researcher—and most frequently cited state's expert—Dr. A. W. Jones, along with the top lawyers in the country in handling blood test cases. The Mastering Scientific Evidence seminar was founded by William C. "Bubba" Head, one of the Deans of DWI defense law, in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1994. The National College for DUI Defense (NCDD), along with Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association, have continued the tradition of excellence for which this seminar has become known. It has been, and remains, the premier DWI/DUI Scientific Evidence seminar in the country.

This seminar will feature not just science, but real defense trial strategies to expose reasonable doubt and deliver not guilty verdicts. Whether it is exposing flaws in the blood draw, the transportation and storage of the blood, the preparation of the blood sample, or the actual blood testing analysis, the experts and lawyers presenting at this year's MSE seminar will share their expertise and experience with the science, defenses, and strategies. These lawyers will share their experiences in how they not only delivered not guilty verdicts in blood testing cases, but also exposed massive problems in ethanol blood testing, and in three different criminal laboratories throughout the United States.

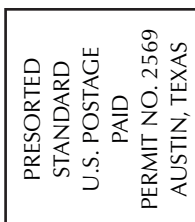

If you want to learn how to properly defend a blood test case, you need to attend this seminar to learn not just the science, but to learn strategies on how to use the science. The science and strategies will be presented, and then the details of the presentations will be demonstrated in a mock jury trial. The blood test case is a real DWI blood test case tried in front of a real-life jury. The mock jury is always told that the case they are hearing is a real case, and that their verdict will be a real verdict. This year's mock trial will feature a blood test, a common scenario among DWI practitioners. Blood testing has become predominant in Texas and other states. This trial addresses a new, most common scenario in light of "No Refusal" weekends.
